Introduction

1. Introduction

1.1 FTSE/CoreCommodity CRB® Single Commodity Indices

- 1.1.1 This Methodology contains the rules for calculating the FTSE/CoreCommodity CRB Single Commodity Indices. This Methodology contains the rules for calculating the FTSE/CoreCommodity CRB Single Commodity Indices, and all information contained herein is the exclusive property of FTSE International Limited, or its affiliates, and CoreCommodity Indexes, LLC, or its affiliates ("CoreCommodity"). as applicable. FTSE International Limited and CoreCommodity shall have no liability to any person or entity for the accuracy or completeness of the information contained herein.
- 1.1.2 FTSE/CoreCommodity CRB Single Commodity Indices are calculated for the following indices:
 - an excess return index in USD based on the front futures expiration month for each commodity (the "Main" excess return index),
 - an excess return index in USD based on the futures expiration months for each commodity that are 3 months behind the front expiration months (the "Forward" excess return index),
 - a total return index in USD derived from the Main excess return index and based on 3-Month US Treasury Bill,
 - a total return index in USD derived from the Main excess return index and based on US Fed published overnight rate,
 - a total return index derived in USD from the Forward excess return index and based on 3-Month US Treasury Bill, and
 - a total return index in USD derived from the Forward excess return index and based on US Fed published overnight rate.
- 1.1.3 The FTSE CoreCommodity CRB Single Indices does not take account of ESG factors in its index design.

1.2 FTSE Russell

FTSE Russell is a trading name of FTSE International Limited, Frank Russell Company, FTSE Global Debt Capital Markets Limited (and its subsidiaries FTSE Global Debt Capital Markets Inc. and FTSE Fixed Income Europe Limited), FTSE Fixed Income LLC, FTSE (Beijing) Consulting Limited, Refinitiv Benchmark Services (UK) Limited, Refinitiv Limited and Beyond Ratings.

- 1.3 FTSE Russell hereby notifies users of the index series that it is possible that circumstances, including external events beyond the control of FTSE Russell, may necessitate changes to, or the cessation of, the index series and therefore, any financial contracts or other financial instruments that reference the index series or investment funds which use the index series to measure their performance should be able to withstand, or otherwise address the possibility of changes to, or cessation of, the index series.
- 1.4 Index users who choose to follow this index series or to buy products that claim to follow this index series should assess the merits of the index series rules-based methodology and take independent investment advice before investing their own or client funds. No liability whether as a result of negligence or otherwise is accepted by FTSE Russell or CoreCommodity for any losses, damages, claims and expenses suffered by any person as a result of:
 - any reliance on these Ground Rules, and/or
 - any inaccuracies in these Ground Rules, and/or
 - any non-application or misapplication of the policies or procedures described in these Ground Rules, and/or
 - any inaccuracies in the compilation of the index series or any constituent data.

Management responsibilities

2.1 FTSE International Limited (FTSE)

- 2.1.1 FTSE is the benchmark administrator of the index series¹.
- 2.1.2 As Administrator, FTSE International Limited is responsible for collecting input data, determining and publishing the Benchmark, and for all aspects of governance, oversight, compliance and integrity of the Benchmark.

2.2 CC/CRB Oversight Committee

2.2.1 The FTSE/CoreCommodity CRB Indices Oversight Committee ("CC/CRB Oversight Committee") is responsible for overseeing the provision of the FTSE/CoreCommodity CRB Indices, including reviewing the benchmark definition and methodology at least annually, overseeing any changes to the benchmark methodology or cessation of the benchmark, and overseeing the administrator's control framework, management and operation of the benchmark. The members of the CC/CRB Oversight Committee consist of: (a) at least two voting members selected by CoreCommodity Indexes, LLC ("CCI") and approved by FTSE Board or a delegated governance committee, (b) one voting (or non-voting) member selected by the FTSE Board or a delegated governance committee, and (c) any other voting member selected by agreement of both CCI and FTSE.

2.3 Benchmark Manager

- 2.3.1 A Benchmark Manager is appointed by FTSE from time to time. The Benchmark Manager is a subject matter expert and is responsible for the integrity and quality of the Index which includes the following specific responsibilities:
 - Interpreting the Index Methodology and implement the change procedure (if any)
 - Reviewing feedback received from the Index stakeholders and the CC/CRB Oversight Committee.
 - Developing and implementing changes to the index methodology pursuant to feedback from stakeholders or in response to market events in accordance with the FTSE benchmark change and cessation policy.
 - Managing interaction with the index stakeholders.

2.4 Identification of potential limitations of the Benchmark

The design of the Benchmark is resilient against disruptions and periods of high volatility. However, technical problems or extreme market events may lead to re-publish the most recent Benchmark end of day close until the disruption has ended, or changes have been implemented. The administrator will attempt to notify interested parties of any such actions as well in advance as is practicable. There is no assurance, however, that following a Market Emergency, the actions taken in response to such Market Emergency, or any other force majeure event, will not have an adverse effect on the value of the FTSE/CoreCommodity CRB® Single Commodity Indices or the manner in which they are calculated.

2.5 Amendments to these Ground Rules

2.5.1 The benchmark is subject to a regular review and approval of the methodology. Such a review takes place on an annual basis or whenever deemed necessary due to changes in the underlying market or incidents in the calculation of the benchmark.

FTSE Russell 5 of 17

¹ The term administrator is used in this document in the same sense as it is defined in Regulation (EU) 2016/1011 of the European Parliament and of the Council of 8 June 2016 on indices used as benchmarks in financial instruments and financial contracts or to measure the performance of investment funds (the European Benchmark Regulation) and The Benchmarks (Amendment and Transitional Provision) (EU Exit) Regulations 2019 (the UK Benchmark Regulation)

FTSE CoreCommodity CRB Single Commodity Index, v1.2, November 2025

The benchmark review follows its benchmark procedures and entails in particular an analysis of, but not limited to, the conditions in the market that forms the underlying interest of the benchmark, the quality and representativeness of the input prices or rates, the data sources as defined in Article 3(1)(24) and the effectiveness of the methodology in producing a traceable and verifiable benchmark.

The analysis is carried out by FTSE with oversight by the CC/CRB Oversight Committee and approved by the Index Governance Board. The Terms of Reference of the Index Governance Board, including a description of the procedure for nominating and removing members, is published under ftse-russell-index-governance-board-terms-of-reference.pdf. The Terms of Reference of the CC/CRB Oversight Committee, including a description of the procedure for nominating and removing members, is published on the FTSE Russell website.

- 2.5.2 Additional reviews may be conducted at the discretion of the CC/CRB Oversight Committee or the Administrator. Such additional reviews may be triggered by (i) events affecting the Benchmark that are not optimally treated by the Methodology, (ii) events in the underlying market, (iii) developments in the source of input data used in the Benchmark determination and (iv) issues raised by stakeholders in the Benchmark.
- 2.5.3 The independent CC-CRB Oversight Committee will provide input into reviews and reviews are approved by the appropriate FTSE International Limited board committee.
- 2.5.4 Any proposals for significant amendments to this Methodology are subject to the FTSE Russell Policy for Benchmark Methodology Changes and will be subject to consultation with the CC/CRB Oversight Committee, FTSE Russell advisory committees and other stakeholders if appropriate. The feedback from these consultations will be considered by the FTSE Russell Index Governance Board before approval is granted.
- 2.5.5 Back-testing shall take place at least at each annual review of the Methodology and following any material change of the Methodology. The Methodology shall include an assessment of the back-testing results, including processes to ensure that systemic anomalies highlighted by back-testing are identified and properly addressed. No significant issues were found under the back-test for the 12 month period to the date of the last annual review shown on the cover of this Methodology.
- 2.5.6 The benchmark administrator may exercise discretion over Insufficient data and market disruption scenarios detailed over section 5.7.

Input data

4. Input data

4.1 Data source

4.1.1 All commodity prices used in the FTSE/CoreCommodity CRB single commodity indices are taken from commodity futures contract prices published by the CME Group (COMEX, NYMEX, CBOT and CME). CME Group of exchanges are regulated global marketplace and a well-established platform for commodity futures price discovery. 3-month US Treasury bill rates are based on previous day high value. US Fed published overnight rates are based upon previous day's rate.

4.2 Futures contract expiration months by calculation month

prior to the roll over period.

Determination of the Benchmark

Determination of the Benchmark

5.1 Single commodity excess return indices

5.1.1 Individual commodity excess returns are calculated using front and immediate back expiration months for the relevant futures contract.

Each Percent Return on business day t, SER_t , is calculated with reference to the previous business day t-1 as where CSR is the price of the front expiration month of the relevant futures contract or, if day t falls within the four day roll period then CSR shall be the weighted average price of the front and immediate back expiration months (see 4.2).

If day t falls outside the roll period, CSR is calculated on day t as

$$CSR_t = FP_t \tag{2}$$

Similarly, CSR is calculated on day t-1 as

where FP_t is the futures price of relevant futures contract on day t.

The roll from the front expiration month to the immediate back expiration month of the relevant futures contract takes place over the first four business day period of each calendar month. Exposure is rolled in equal amounts of 25% on each day during the roll period such that by the fourth day of the roll period, 100% of the weight is in the immediate back expiration month.

If day t falls during a roll period, CSR is calculated on day t as

$$CSR_t = \sum_{i=1}^{2} DW_t^i * FP_t^i \tag{4}$$

FTSE Russell 9 of 17

where the summation is over the front expiration month of the relevant futures contract (i = 1) and the immediate back month (i = 2). DW_t^i is the daily roll weight for expiration month 'i' on day t and FP_t^i is the futures price of expiration month 'i' on day t. Similarly, CSR is calculated on day t - 1 as

$$CSR_{t-1} = \sum_{i=1}^{2} DW_t^i * FP_{t-1}^i$$

where FP_{t-1}^i is the futures settlement price of expiration month 'i' on day t-1

Once the four day roll period is complete, the immediate back month during the roll becomes the relevant futures contract and equations 2 and 3 are then used until the start of the next roll period.

All values throughout this Methodology are rounded to six decimal places.

5.2 Single commodity total return indices based on 3 Month US Treasury Bill

Total return indices are calculated for each Commodity Segment Main and Forward index. Each total return index, STR_t , replicates the total return of a portfolio of futures and a cash investment. It is calculated using the futures daily returns plus the daily interest from the cash investment as follows

where d is the number of calendar days between the current and previous business days, and TBR_t is the daily interest from the cash investment calculated as

Each Total Return Index, STR_t , is calculated in USD and TB_{t-1}^{3mo} is the 3 month US Treasury Bill high rate for the previous day.

5.3 Single commodity total return (overnight rate) indices based on US Fed published Overnight Rate

Additional Total return indices are calculated for each Commodity Segment Main and Forward index. Each total return (Overnight Rate) index, TRs_t , replicates the total return of a portfolio of futures and a cash investment. It is calculated using the futures daily returns plus the daily interest from the cash investment as follows where d is the number of calendar days between the current and previous business days, and $SOFR_{t-1}$ is overnight rate published by US Fed on next morning.

Single total return (Overnight Rate) index version published on beginning of January 2020 with index calculation start date from 2nd January 2020.

FTSE CoreCommodity CRB Single Commodity Index, v1.2, November 2025

5.4 Insufficient data and market disruptions

The administrator endeavours to develop and publish indices only where FTSE has a high level of confidence of long-term availability and access to the necessary data to administer the indices.

A "Market Emergency" is herein defined as any unscheduled and extraordinary condition in which liquidity in the markets used to source input data is interrupted (such as an event resulting in the unscheduled closing of futures exchanges). Should a Market Emergency occur, FTSE reserves the right to take such action with respect to the FTSE/CoreCommodity CRB Single Commodity Indices as it deems appropriate given the circumstances and after consulting with the Index Oversight Committee as appropriate (see section 2).

The administrator will attempt to notify interested parties of any such actions as well in advance as is practicable. There is no assurance, however, that following a Market Emergency, the actions taken in response to such Market Emergency, or any other force majeure event, will not have an adverse effect on the value of the FTSE/CoreCommodity CRB Single Commodity Indices or the manner in which they are calculated.

5.4.1 Monthly rollover disruptions

A "Rollover Disruption Event" is defined as any day on which a commodity is scheduled to roll, on which either: a) the front month or back month contracts for the commodity settle at the daily maximum or minimum price as determined by the rules for the relevant exchange, or b) the exchange fails to publish an official settlement price for the commodity, or c) the exchange on which the commodity trades is not scheduled to be open. If a Rollover Disruption Event occurs for any commodity, that portion of the rollover for that commodity only which was scheduled to occur on that day will be deferred until the next business day upon which no Rollover Disruption Event occurs for that commodity.

Past performance is no guarantee of future results. Charts and graphs are provided for illustrative purposes only. Index and/or rate returns shown may not represent the results of the actual trading of investable assets. Certain returns shown may reflect back-tested performance. All performance presented prior to the index or rate inception date is back-tested performance. Back-tested performance is not actual performance, but is hypothetical. The back-test calculations are based on the same methodology that was in effect when the index or rate was officially launched. However, back-tested data may reflect the application of the index or rate methodology with the benefit of hindsight, and the historic calculations of an index or rate may change from month to month based on revisions to the underlying economic data used in the calculation of the index or rate.

This document may contain forward-looking assessments. These are based upon a number of assumptions concerning future conditions that ultimately may prove to be inaccurate. Such forward-looking assessments are subject to risks and uncertainties and may be affected by various factors that may cause actual results to differ materially.
